

IGUDESMAN & JOO

First there was a big bang ...

... and then "A Little Nightmare Music" and now... Mozart! With a specially-designed GPS for classical music and the ultimate gymnastics program "Violorobics", this show smashed into the 21st century. And in "And Now Mozart," IGUDESMAN & JOO will even transport you into the future to show you scenarios that will send chills down your spine... like authoritarian police watching over the playing of innocent pianists. Technologies, which we know nothing of today, reveal sinister insights into the mind of a working musician. The capacity of an average concert-goer will have dropped so dramatically that even top-class musicians only get the chance to be heard when they distilled the entire symphonic oeuvre of a composer into a 90-second potpourri of highlights. The stakes have never been higher but will IGUDESMAN & JOO manage to get all the way to Mozart? Keep your fingers crossed!
